(For the Pacific Commercial Advertiser.) Hymn of Kalakaua.

Hawali's guardian genius wakes From the desponding dream of years; Sees, with glad eyes, the light that breaks, And smiles amid her falling tears.

Fair islands of the sounding main, From snow-clad tops to coral shore,-Deep vale and venture-cover'd plain,-

Where streams in silvery cadence pour ; Hawail! hall the coming day ; Gird on thy strength, and hopeful stand ;

God helps the earnest heart alway That heurs for King and native land. Hall thy new King, of ancient line; Trust in his guidance, firm and true : The coming years of hope are thine, God of the nations, hear our pray'r ! In Thee our trust-to Thee we sing : Save Thou our race, for Thine we are ; God save and keep our gracious King !

Wherein to labor, strive and do!

VARIETY.

A Michigan newsdealer recently received this order from a young lady: "Send me A Novel caled bufalo bil and the dais doins."

A man out West who has married and buried three sisters, now comes up smiling at the altar, having begun on a new family.

Josh Billings says: "There ain't ennything that will kompletely kure lazyness, though second wife has been known to hurry it some. Mr. Jtdfjst does business in Cleveland. There is one advantage about Mr. Jtdfjst's name-you couldn't forge it with anything short of a photographic camera. The Green Briar (Mass.) Herald, in suspending, says: "Hang this town! Hang all the men in it—throw the rest into the river, and plant the town site in cucumbers!" The City Treasurer of the newly-fledged city of Holyoke, Mass., added, as a rider to his oath of office: "And I swear that if I see any more stealing going on I will expose it." The New York Times says that no form of social entertainment is more deceptive in its promises, more illusory in its pleasures, more totally unsatisfactory in its results, than a grand A Maine woman ate four quarts of oysters at one sitting, the other day, and won $100 by so doing, which, after deducting her burial expenses ($85), left her $15 to commence the next world He said it was too cold to get up, and she said it wasn't her place to kindle fires, and she wouldn't, and they both lay abed thirty-odd hours in Portland (Me). She, pretty hungry by that time, thought better of it. A Hollander recently paid $300 for "a divorce without a publicity," in Milwaukee, only to discover when too late (alas!) that his wife was dead. His frenzy of agony at the loss-of the money—is described as simply heart-rending. STARTLED .- The Des Moines Quartette were somewhat startled the other evening by finding that the selection, "When wearied wretches sink to sleep," had been printed on their programmes, "When married wretches sink to sleep. It costs Boston $142,000 yearly to pay the salaries of her church choirs, and now comes the St. Louis Dispatch and says that Boston could get a vast deal of music more acceptable to the Lord if she would distribute that sum of money discreetly among her poor. OCCHT TO BE ASHAMED .- A bunch of shingles fell from a wagon on the Troy ferry-boat recently and struck fairly upon the head of a colored woman, who said: "Y' oughter b'shame to muss a cullud woman's har dat way; I wish de shingles fell ovabboard."

The Cincinnati Times, which never thinks of its grandmother, and has no sort of respect for old age, has the following paragraph: "Says Anna Dickinson of a bath in Idaho : 'You may laugh as much as you please, and say I have no business to gush at my age, but, girls, the delight of a bath in that Idaho water is very like the rapture you find in your lover's tender clasp. I've tried both, and I know.' Can Whitelaw Reid this without a groan?"

In reviewing a recent English publication on epitaphs, written by Henry J. Loaring, the Boston Literary World quotes these lines : Old Grimes is dead, that good old man,

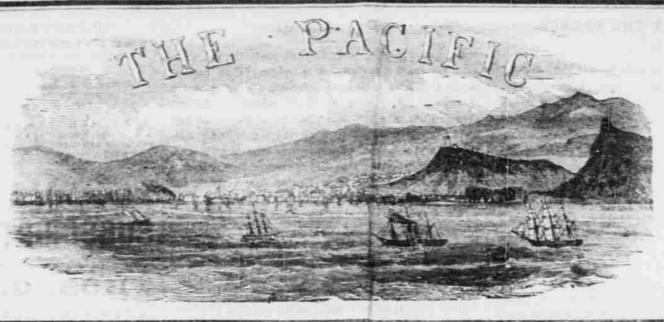

We ne'er shall see him more; He used to wear an old gray coat All buttoned down before,

Mr. Loaring claims to have discovered them on a tombstone in Multham churchyard, Monmouthshire; but in his version the name of the deceased is John Lee, not Old Grimes, and the color of the coat brown, not gray.

The late Judge Albert G. Greene has always been eredited with the authorship of "Old

A Kansas paper gives the following report of a Judge's sentence, lately passed on a criminal: .. Brumley, you infamous scoundrel! You're an unredeemed villain! You hain't a redeeming trait in your character. Your wife and family wish we had sent you to the penitentiary. This is the fifth time I've had you before me, and you have put me to more trouble than your neck is worth. I've exhorted and prayed over you long enough, you scoundrel! Just go home and take one glimpse at your family, and be off in short order! Don't let me ever hear of you again! The Grand Jury have found two other indictments against you, but I'll discharge you on your own recognizance, and if I ketch you in this neck of Metallic Kerosene or Coal Oil woods to-morrow morning at daylight, I'll sock you right square in jail and hump you off to Jeffersonville in less than no time, you infamous scoundrel! If ever I catch you crossing your finger at man, woman or child-white man or nigger-I'll sock you right square into the jug! Stand up, you secundrel, while I pass sentence

THE WELSH MINISTER AND THE MARQUIS O ANGUESEA.-The following Welsh anecdote of Christmas Evans has been translated into the French, Italian, and other European languages. On one occasion, while speaking at a Bible Society meeting, over which the Marquis of Anglesca presided, he turned and personally addressed the Marquis thus: "I imagine, my lord, that you have died, and that the Angel of Death has taken your soul to the portals of the holy city. Only a few are admitted into Paradise; the entrance is narrow and jealously watched. 'Open!' shouts the Angel of Death as he presses forward to secure a place in heaven worthy of your lordship." "Who to?" asks the guardian of Paradise, with an authoritative voice. "To the Honorable the Marquis of Anglesca." "Who is he?" "An steady than gas, at one-fifth the expense. officer in the army of the Duke of York." "In that capacity," says Peter, "he is not on my list." But he has filled the office of High BEST WINDOW SHADE IN THE WORLD Muster of the Ordinance." "That may be possible, but we know him not." "He has been several times Lord Lieutenant of Ireland." "I San Francisco, Also, at the State Industrial Fair at Sacrasay nothing to the contrary, but he is to us a mento, for 1871. total stranger." "He was the leader of the Manufactured from all kinds of Wood suitable for Home Guard at the battle of Waterloo." "I repeat that we know nothing of him." .. Besides | Its fixtures work to perfection, and never get out of order. that, he was for many years President of the Bible Society." "Ho!" shouted Peter, "that alters the case. He can enter in; indeed I can see his name recorded among the blessed on the books of the Father."
